Dear John:

Thanks for your telegram of Saturday, Feb 17, and your note of the same date. No, your message about the Taft Hotel deadline did not reach me in time to catch the multilith masters that John Pegram sent out, but I expect Dick Crompton will catch the error on the masters before running them on the IBS press. I don't know where I ever got the idea they required a ten day advance. Well, I'm sure glad you caught it.

I hope you can get me the information fairly soon on the rates for coffee and doughnuts. We will be quite concerned if we learn at the last minute about any exorbitant charges on this item. I don't expect that we will, but in this business, the unexpected has a habit of occurring rather frequently.

Thanks very much for your information on travel routes to New Haven, as well as the low-down on local entertainment Saturday night. John Pegram will no doubt make due note of this information at the proper time in his publicity.

I will want to check with you in some detail in the latter part of March about the layout of the Registration desks and registration procedure on the morning of the conference. Until that time, I am,

Respectfully,
